- ✓ The policy provides cover for one successful claim during the policy period. That is one repair, replacement or alternative settlement.

What is not insured?

- ✗ Damage that happened before the insurance cover was purchased or after the insurance cover has expired.
- ✗ Wear, tear and cosmetic damage which does not affect the functionality or performance of the insured product.
- ✗ Failure to take care of the insured product or failure to follow instructions provided with the insured product or incorrect use of the insured product.
- ✗ Failure due to defect in design, materials or workmanship.
- ✗ Loss or damage to peripheral devices and accessories which are not built in or on the base unit (e.g. docking stations, external speakers, keyboards or headphones).
- ✗ Service or repair performed by anyone who is not Lenovo or its authorised repair agents.

- ! Cover is only available to businesses or residents of the United Kingdom, Channel Islands or the Isle of Man and who are aged 18 or over.

Where am I covered?

- ✓ This policy covers accidental damage to your insured Lenovo product, no matter where in the world you are when the damage occurs. However, if you make a claim in a country that is not the country where the insured product was purchased, we cannot guarantee repair or replacement in that country and you may need to wait until you return to the country of purchase. Repair or replacement of the insured product is subject to local service availability and may be subject to payment of additional fees.

- To make a claim you must follow the procedure set out in the policy document.
- When you make a claim, you must provide Lenovo with any information it asks for about the circumstances leading up to the claim.
- You must ensure where possible that your software and data residing on the hardware is backed up as the insurance cover does not provide data recovery services. If the hard drive is replaced, Lenovo only preinstall the Lenovo standard operating system where the insured product was purchased from Lenovo with the standard operating system. You will be responsible for reinstalling all other software programs, data and passwords onto the insured product.

When and how do I pay?

Payment of the premium is set out in the purchase invoice provided to you at the time the insured product is purchased.

How this policy works

This policy is designed to cover you for one event of accidental damage to an insured product. When we say “insured product” we mean the Lenovo laptop, notebook, tablet, desktop or monitor including charging leads, sold by Lenovo or a Lenovo Authorised Reseller as detailed in your purchase invoice.

When we say “Lenovo Authorised Reseller” we mean a third party service provider authorised by Lenovo to distribute this policy at the same time as selling you the Lenovo product.

When we say "accidental damage" we mean accidental physical damage, breakage or failure of your insured product due to an unforeseen and unintentional event that causes physical damage to the insured product which then affects its functionality.

Accidental damage does not include failure of the insured product due to defects in materials and/or workmanship and/or design.

The premium

The premium is the amount set out in the purchase invoice provided to you at the time the insured product is purchased so we can provide you with insurance.

If your payment has not been completed correctly (for example if your payment card fails) you will be informed and you will need to take action to complete the payment. If you need to make a claim under this policy and your payment has not been completed, you will not be entitled to receive insurance cover.

You should check whether you already have any other insurance policies that offer the same cover as this policy, and make sure you are not paying twice for the same cover.

This policy is not a warranty. The insured product will also come with a limited warranty from Lenovo or a Lenovo Authorised Reseller. Please read the warranty statement you received with the insured product or contact Lenovo to find out more. Before making a claim under your policy, you should check whether your claim falls within your warranty.

You must still take care of your insured product.

Giving us the facts

It's important you provide complete and accurate information at all times. If you notice any information isn't right, or if your circumstances change, you should get in touch straight away. If you don't tell the truth, or if you mislead or exaggerate a claim, we may cancel your policy or treat it like it never existed. If we do this, we won't refund any premiums you've paid us.

This policy covers residents of, or businesses incorporated in the United Kingdom (UK), Channel Islands and the Isle of Man.

If you are an individual, you must be aged 18 years or older at the date of purchase of this policy and you must have your main residence in the UK, Channel Islands or Isle of Man.

If you are a business customer you must have purchased the insured product for a business, trust, charity or other unincorporated body established in the UK, Channel Islands or the Isle of Man.

In the event you make a claim, Lenovo reserves the right to conduct an inspection of the insured product to confirm that it is in normal operating condition.

When does this policy start and end?

The policy starts when you receive your insured product and will end on the first of the following to happen:

- the date on which you or we cancel the policy;
- the end of the policy period; or
- you have made a successful claim on the policy.

The policy period is set out on your purchase invoice.

This policy does not cover any damage to the insured product which occurred before the policy was purchased or after the policy has expired.

What this policy covers

Your insured product is covered for one successful claim of accidental damage during the policy period.

Lenovo, on behalf of AIG UK, will attempt to repair your insured product when possible and economically viable. If Lenovo decides the insured product cannot reasonably be repaired, then the insured product will be replaced with a product of at least the same or similar specification, or an alternative settlement will be provided to you. The policy will end following a successful claim.

Facts about repairs

- Lenovo may replace original parts with new or used parts.
- Replacement parts will be functionally equivalent to the original parts.
- Lenovo may appoint an affiliated company or a third party to complete repairs on the insured product.
- Some repairs may be made by Lenovo sending you the part for self-installation.
- If you are entitled to on-site repairs, Lenovo may repair or exchange your insured product at your location. If a repair cannot be complete on-site, Lenovo will arrange for a courier to collect your insured product for assessment and repair at the service centre at its expense.
- The policy will end following a successful repair.

Facts about replacements

- The replacement product will be of at least the same or similar specification as the insured product.
- Lenovo will decide what the appropriate replacement product will be.
- The replacement product may contain original or refurbished parts.
- If you are provided with a replacement, we will take sole ownership of the defective insured product.
- Where Lenovo is unable to provide a replacement, we may seek to provide you with an alternative settlement.
- The policy will end following a replacement or the provision of an alternative settlement.

When you make a claim under this policy, you must allow Lenovo, on behalf of AIG UK, to assess the insured product. Lenovo's technical support agent will tell you how to get the insured product to Lenovo for assessment and repair.

If shipping is required, then Lenovo will arrange to collect your insured product for assessment and repair.

Unless agreed otherwise, repairs or replacements under this policy will be delivered to the address site(s) shown on your purchase invoice.

If you make a claim when you and/or the insured product are outside the UK, Channel Islands or the Isle of Man, you should make your claim as usual (see "How to make a claim") but you should be aware that response levels, technical support hours and onsite response times will vary by geography. This policy does not guarantee that it will be possible to repair or replace an insured product which is not in the UK, Channel Islands or the Isle of Man.

The ability for Lenovo to arrange repair or replacement is subject to local service availability and may be subject to your payment of an additional fee based on current time, material costs and consulting rates. In addition, out of country support will not include any whole unit replacements.

The serial number acts as your insurance policy number. If you plan to take any insured product outside of the UK, Channel Islands or the Isle of Man on a permanent basis it is your responsibility to inform Lenovo and discuss with Lenovo whether the serial number can be transferred.

How to make a claim

If you need to make a claim, you will need to have the insured product's serial number, which you will find on the back or underside of the insured product, and on your purchase invoice. You must also keep the insured product as it may need to be inspected before Lenovo (on our behalf) can accept your claim.

Telling Lenovo about the accidental damage to your insured product

You must report your claim as soon as possible by contacting the Lenovo Accidental Damage Protection Claims department on:

- By phone: 0333 777 3991
- * Lines are open between 09:00 and 18:00, Monday to Friday. Alternatively, you can visit Lenovo Contact Support for more ways to get in touch with Lenovo. For Lenovo Contact Support visit: Lenovo Contact Support

Failure to notify Lenovo may result in denial of your claim. If your claim is made so long after the incident that we and Lenovo are unable to fully investigate it may result in you not receiving the full amount claimed.

Information Lenovo will need to handle your claim

You will be asked for the insured product's serial number. You will find this on the back or underside of the insured product, and on your purchase invoice.

Once your policy has been verified you will be asked a series of questions to assess the cause and extent of damage to the insured product.

Further diagnostics and troubleshooting steps may require more than one call or an extended session and you may be asked to access the inside of your insured product where it is safe to do so.

If you do not comply with any reasonable request by us throughout this claims procedure, we may not pay the claim.

AIG UK and Lenovo do not tolerate any type of fraudulent activity and share data and information with other insurers, fraud prevention agencies and public bodies to identify fraud. Any claim that is found to be fraudulent or if you knowingly give misleading information when making a claim or applying for insurance, the claim will be declined, and your policy cancelled with no refund of premium due to you.

Once your claim has been accepted

If Lenovo accepts your claim, Lenovo will either: i) arrange for a courier to collect the insured product for repair, ii) advise you how to return the insured product to the repair centre, or iii) arrange for a replacement part to be sent to you to install on the insured product.

Alternatively, if you are entitled to on-site repairs, where possible, Lenovo will arrange for the insured product to be repaired on-site. If you need to send the insured product for repair, Lenovo will arrange for a courier to collect your product.

If instructed to return the insured product, you must return the insured product with all functional components as instructed by Lenovo.

If your product is repaired, replaced, or an alternative settlement is agreed, your policy will come to an end.

If you need to make changes to your policy

You can register a change of address by contacting Lenovo.

If we need to make changes to your policy
